

Local schoolchildren have come to the aid of Clwb Bowlio Coedpoeth Bowling Club, near Wrexham, to help make the green and surroundings even more beautiful.

The Club, which has around fifty members, took the opportunity of the Covid break during the spring to install the watering system, which was grant aided by 'WcVA Landfill Disposals Tax Communities Scheme', which was successfully completed at the end of the summer.

But – and it was a big but – there was a problem. The problem was indeed a big butt, which although doing a sterling job in storing the water, was a bit of a problem. It was, to be honest, no oil painting.

The big black water tank could not be hidden by planting shrubs around it, due to lack of space, and distracted from the otherwise pleasant view.

But(t) help was at hand. Step forward pupils, and their teacher, of nearby Ysgol Penygelli School who used their vivid imagination and artistic skills to beautify the big butt by designing and painting a colourful mural on it, which they were proud to unveil alongside the grateful club's secretary and greenkeeper, pictured here.

Pauline Lindley from the Club is very grateful and pleased with the new look tank. "We hope to start bowling competitively in April 2021, and we are hoping that some of the school children, their parents and teachers will be interested in coming and "having a go" at one of our free coaching sessions."
